About us:

Alyssa
Gilchrist

Alyssa holds an Honours degree in Archaeology and History from the University of Sydney (2006) and has been involved in archaeological work since 2003. Alyssa has worked on a variety of heritage management projects, ranging from the survey and recording of Indigenous archaeological sites on the Burrup Peninsula, Western Australia to the excavation of historical archaeological sites in Victoria and NSW.

Alyssa has undertaken a range of archaeological survey, subsurface testing and recording programs for Indigenous heritage projects in rural and regional Victoria as well as in Metropolitan Melbourne. Alyssa has also worked on archaeological projects across several regions of Western Australia - including the Pilbara, Murchison, Goldfields and Great Southern regions, as well as in Metropolitan Perth.

Alyssa has directed a variety of salvage and subsurface testing excavations, and has acted as Cultural Heritage Advisor for Cultural Heritage Management Plans. Alyssa is experienced in project management, and has managed projects involving both Aboriginal and Historical archaeological components, and is a skilled editor of technical reports.

About us:

Sharon
Lane

Dr Sharon Lane holds an Honours degree in Archaeology from the University of Melbourne (1993), a Graduate Diploma in Humanities (Archaeology) from La Trobe University (1995) and a PhD in Archaeology from the University of Sydney (2008).

Sharon's experience in archaeological fieldwork dates back to the late 1980s, when she began volunteering on excavations whilst attending high school. Sharon has been involved in archaeological consulting in Australia since 1994, and has worked on projects in Western Australia, Victoria, NSW, the Northern Territory, Tasmania, South Australia and overseas.

Sharon has directed a wide range of historical and Indigenous archaeology projects for a wide variety of purposes and clients - from heritage assessments of new road alignments to heritage inventories undertaken for Aboriginal community landholders. Her PhD focused on the Aboriginal stone-based huts of the Mt Eccles region of southwestern Victoria.
