Dunloe Sands

Producer's of fine to medium light grey & white Sand

Consisting dominantly of silica quartz 94%

Silt content >1%

Primary used for Plasterers /Renderers & concreting

Construction, bedding and concrete sand

Dunloesands produces specialist sands, construction sand, loam sand, fine bedding sand and superfine sand for use within the construction industry.

These sands are used underneath concrete slabs, filling around piping or within a specialised concrete or render mix.

Playground sand

Sand is a wonderful medium for keeping children constructively occupied. It is also the perfect surface under swings and playsets!

The unique sand consists of a range of sand particle sizes that allow it to 'give' upon impact - yet still retain all the great characteristics that make up a playful medium.

This 'give' factor or cushioning effect helps break the impact of a fall when children jump from swings or playsets and allows you to produce a playground environment that allows kids to be kids!

Clean, safe and won't form hard crusts- Fun, with no risk of splinters or sharp edges

White sand

Top Soil

100% Top soil screened through a 20mm screen
Compromising with quality is not an option while buying top soil

Sandy loam/Under Turf

A mix of soil, sand & organics

Specially formulated for all of your top dressing needs

Screened through a 20mm screen for a ultra fine soil

Ideal for ground levelling or as a base for your gardens, for under turf or even top dress

The trick to growing healthy grass is to ensure that the roots are bedded in a medium that allows moisture and nutrients to constantly reach the roots, but not 'drown' them.

Dunloesands Under Turf is ideal for this!

With a sand particle size evenly distributed from 0.15mm to 0.6mm, our turf sand allows water to penetrate and gradually seep down from the surface to the roots below, at a controlled rate. The water is therefore optimised at the root level ensuring it doesn't flow through too quickly without effect, or too 'slowly' to cause drowning of the roots .

Top Dressing Sand

Importantly, with Dunloesands Top Dressing Sand you can be sure our sand is free of weeds and seeds so you don't have to worry about 'uninvited' guests.
