

TEAM BUILDING, REIMAGINED

Team Brochure | 2021

Welcome to experiencing more

Ever yawned your way through a team building session... then forgotten everything by the next morning? Or attended a work social event that was...dare we say it...dull?

We can guarantee those weren't our events.

We're the antidote to boring events and forgotten training, delivering serious results, in a seriously entertaining way.

Our Mission is to direct teams towards their extraordinary potential through completely unique team building experiences that pair fun with function.

We find fun ways to achieve pretty serious stuff, helping teams and businesses connect, uncover talents and communicate through interactive experiences inspired by game theory and evidence-based peer learning.

If you are looking for learning outcomes that stick, to super boost your team dynamics or spectacular social events that will have everyone talking, you are in the perfect place.

Team building, reimagined

We don't just run events, we create immersive social, team building and professional development experiences that put your team at the centre of the story.

Our work is a blend of art and science: practical, evidence-led learning through discovery, packaged in creativity, theatre, storytelling and game design. Directors of the Extraordinary bring you an evolution in corporate experiences.

Exceed your team building objectives

Mentioning ‘team building activities’ often leads to audible groans and eye-rolls around the office. And that’s understandable. In the past, team building activities have often been either corny, boring or failed to involve everyone. But you’ll find none of that here.

We’ve listened, learnt and taken action to create unique events your team will love.

We find fun ways to achieve pretty serious stuff, helping teams and businesses connect, uncover talents and communicate through interactive experiences inspired by game theory and evidence-based peer learning.

Be the office hero. Surprise your team by organising something completely unexpected for an experience they’ll be talking about for months!

Recommended Experiences

- Mastership Game Spy vs spy competition Pg 7
- Train Heist Puzzle solving detective challenge Pg 8
- Bull Pit Wall St negotiation and strategy challenge Pg 9
- Custom Experiences Tailored to your outcomes Pg 19

Learning outcomes that stick

With scarce time and resources to develop people, making learning investments count really matters. Many programs focus on great content but few consider how to activate the learning process to bring the content to life.

Combating waning attention spans and increasingly sceptical audiences, Directors of the Extraordinary combine theory and excellence in facilitation with truly unique ways of putting participants in the centre of the learning process.

By activating the learning process through a proven, evidence-based approach, we transform layers of important information into knowledge that sticks.

Standard training teaches, but activated learning embeds by building personal connections to engaged content, creating ‘aha moments’ with peer learning and personal discovery.

When you want more from your learning opportunities be a leader in the rise of experiential events. Surprise your team by organising something completely unexpected for an experience they’ll all learn from and rave about for months to come.

Recommended Experiences

- L & D Workshops Activate high performing leaders, teams & organisations

Entertainment that is anything but ordinary

What's the secret for spectacularly successful events?

Engagement. And that's our specialty.

Ignite your next event with corporate entertainment that invites your guests to escape the everyday with fast-paced, fun experiences that bring people together.

Your guests will love it – and your clients will remember your name. From making sure everyone has a seriously good time at your next company event, to making a seriously good impression with out-of-the-ordinary client entertainment, Directors of the Extraordinary delivers an immersive experience that puts you at the heart of the action without the forced participation.

Be the event planning hero. Whether it's your next Christmas party, client event or social club function, surprise your guests by organising something completely unexpected for an experience they'll be talking about for months!

Your guests will be entertained as our roaming photographer and theatre trained side-kick makes sure they are looking suave! Don't have your photographer seep into the background, when they were born to stand out. Creating genuine engagement and moments of laughter, our Interactive Photographer package will result in a well-rounded and fun series of photos. You (and your guests) will look back on your event with pride!

What's included

- 2 hours of professional event photography & side kick
- Basic theme alliance with costumes & characters
- Photos delivered online within 2 weeks of event

Investment

Interactive Photographer & Side Kick: $900 + GST

Photo Wall ONLY: $150 + GST

Videographer: $700 + GST

Opportunity for more learning

Take the learning further by breaking open simulations with extended debriefs or personality insights.

Extended Debriefs

Deep dive into a topic of your choice with a debrief off the back of our team building experiences to really harness the power of interactive learning.

Debriefs go for 30 minutes.

Select from:

- Collaboration & healthy competition
- Responses to stress & how to overcome them
- Problem solving under time constraints
- Negotiation & leveraging relationships

Personality Insights

Profiling is a powerful tool used to accelerate learning & understanding of working preferences, communication styles and natural skill sets.

A facilitated discovery session will go into detail about personality types, how these played out in the simulation, lessons that can be drawn and how an awareness of personality types can aid in day-to-day team dynamics.
