Need to know?

Man and His Van is packed-up and ready you are on the day of the removal, then the quicker the move. Packing and organisation is so important.

For a pre-pack, then Man and His Van can send experienced packers the day before. Pre-Packing is at the same hourly rate. For further information about our services click here. This way you will be able to take out insurance on packed items with a peace of mind that your possessions have been professionally packed.

When the access is awkward, bringing in a second team towards the end of a job lifts morale and double the speed of a job. The hourly removal rate does not change as the job is done twice as quickly. This gives you extra time for any clean up the new home.
