About Us

R & D Removals is a SA family owned and operated business established in 2011. We are a small company, but well experienced in the field. Our names are Robyn and David Kilvington and together we form R & D Removals. We are married and have three children Camaron, Joshua and Elyssa. David previously managed a removals company based in Queensland and from this experience we made the decision to go into business for ourselves. Whilst we are a young company we have five years' experience in the industry and have delivered this service all across Australia. When moving your possessions you want more than just someone to move boxes, you want professional care and peace of mind.
