A surveillance system acts as a deterrent around your home or business.

If the footage is good enough it can be used to identify vehicles and people and as evidence in court. A CCTV package from Greater Perth Lock & Security will protect what matters to you.

Our security cameras have crystal clear images with a minimum of 2MP, day and night with infra-red illumination; a mid-level camera will record in pitch darkness up to 30 meters away. Automatic day and night mode and a very low lux level of 0.05, means colour is recorded for longer as light levels diminish before the camera switches to infrared.

We recommend setting the system to start recording on one or all of the cameras as they see movement. Areas of the frame can be ignored such as trees or plants blowing in the wind to maximize hard drive storage. The size of the hard drive and length of recording time depends on the number of cameras but our systems generally get at least a month of footage from each camera but can also be upgraded. The recorder automatically writes over the oldest footage first.

The menu and playback interface is simple and easy to navigate whether viewing through the recorder and TV or via the app – full training is provided.

‘Off the shelf’ kits from online and electronics stores may be appealing at first but often require networking and professional setup resulting in a similar price tag. Our system is easily set up on your smart phone by our technician when your system is installed. Other phones or tablets can easily be set up to log in later by the owner.
