Drive north to visit the world's largest airplane manufacturer, the Boeing Company (admission included). Announced in 1966 that it would build the world's largest jet airliner, the 747, the company was required to construct an equally impressive manufacturing complex. The complex is recognized in the Guinness Book of World Records as the largest building in the world by volume. The building has grown over the years to enclose 472 million cubic feet of space and its footprint covers 39.8 hectares and houses assembly for Boeing wide-body aircraft - the 747, 767, and 777. On the Boeing flight line, you will see airplanes in various stages of flight test and manufacture for airline customers around the world. Return to Seattle to visit all the must-sees in Seattle plus a few places off the beaten path. We begin downtown with a familiarisation drive along the major avenues and corridors leading to each distinctive district. Whether it's the Shopping district, lively Pike Place Market, Historic Pioneer Square or the ever-fascinating China Town, we're positive this portion of the tour will serve you immensely. Once out of the downtown area you will be treated to the many distinct neighbourhoods that make up Seattle's character, some of which are located high on the hilltops that surround the city, some that actually float on the calm waters of Lake Union while others in places often overlooked by the average tourist. Along the journey the coach will stop at scenic overlooks, as well as the Salmon Ladder and Ballard Locks where you will have the opportunity to view the summer passage of migrating salmon and the ingenuity of gravity fed locks filled with an endless variety of boats.
