

Electrician Eddie Hopper in 1945

Hopper Electrics reach 50 years

Horsham family firm N. Hopper Electrics has achieved 50 years in business at the same address.

N. Hopper Electrics, now the longest-serving electrical contractor in Horsham, started at 7 Stawell-rd, Horsham, in July 1945.

Noel Hopper's father Eddie started as E.D. Hopper Electrical Contractor, changing the name to E.D. Hopper and Son when Noel joined the business in the 1960s. Noel took over in 1970 and continues the family tradition working with sons Rick and Shane.

The family tradition even goes beyond 50 years with great-grandfather E.T. Hopper working as an electrical contractor before the Second World War.

N. Hopper Electrics still offers the traditional service with a smile for new, rural, commercial, and domestic work, as well as repairs and a 24-hour maintenance service. Just call Noel, Rick or Shane Hopper on 823238.

18-9-1995