SOUNDING FLAT?

Did you know that a piano has over 6,000 parts?

Like your car, a piano works best when it's tuned and serviced regularly. Piano use, time and changing conditions will affect your piano.

Whether you are a professional musician, a student or a hobby pianist, it is suggested that you have your piano serviced at least once a year. This will ensure optimum sound and a long life for your instrument.

Based in Melbourne's east, Chandler Piano Tuning provides professional, family-friendly piano maintenance and aural tuning.

David Chandler is a qualified piano technician and a graduate from the Australasian School of Piano Technology, the only industry recognised course in Australasia.

Aural piano tuning is the primary service offered by David. He also provides regulation and repair services, maintaining the value of your investment and the quality of your music-making.

Having all parts of the piano mechanism finely adjusted is essential for a well performing piano. An unregulated piano will commonly result in the keyboard feeling unresponsive, sluggish and uneven.

Regulation ensures that you will have more control over touch and dynamics, and improves the tone for a better overall sound.

Do you have sticky keys? Notes that don't work properly? Broken strings or a squeaky pedal?

Small repairs can be done on site. Bigger repair jobs require a separate quote and may need workshop time.
