Weddings

Every wedding I approach begins with a clean palette. I talk with my clients and find out the 'flavour' of photography they require. At the end of the day, it is their story that is to be told...not mine.

I ask questions and listen to the responses. I make suggestions and together we will orchestrate the day that will be remembered forever. During this day of laughter, tears and romance I'll capture real smiles that reflect natural excitement and true emotion.

Portraits

My idea of a truly great portrait is one that captures the personality of the subject. We discuss the type of portrait required and the location and a time that is suitable. The photo session is an enjoyable experience, in which images are created in a fresh and natural style. After the shoot I supply proof size prints of the images taken, for you to keep and order from. There is no high pressure selling. You can decide in your own time the prints you would like to purchase. Whatever the occasion or event, the results are a preservation of time, which you can revisit and always remember.
