

Booking

You can book in off very little notice but if you want a specific day obviously the more notice the better. We can usually get you in with a weeks notice, 2 weeks is great but the earlier you book the better in terms of getting the day you want.

Insurance

You are covered for damage or loss throughout your entire move in the unlikely event of an accident. If the goods are damaged either while loading, in transit or unloading we will repair or replace as long as the contents were packed by us so self packed boxes cannot be covered as they were not packed by our trained professional staff and may not have been packed adequately. Items we cannot move include gas bottles, fuel, any flammable cans, firearms, please empty mowers with fuel in them and paints as they will void any insurance and possibly damage other items in the truck.

Some furniture, particularly flat packed desks using cam bolts aren't designed to be moved assembled and unless we are asked to disassemble, we will remove at the owners risk and responsibility. As some customers are on price and time constraints and disassembly can be time consuming. Our trucks are swept out after every job so lounges will only be wrapped in plastic if asked and at an extra cost for the plastic.

Some home and contents policies cover your furniture during your removal so it is recommended you check with your provider first to see if they will cover your removal. Regardless of any contractual rights you may have against your removal company there are many circumstances where they will not be liable to make good on any loss or damage to your goods, for example where the goods are damaged as a result of an accident that is not the companies fault. We take the utmost care to ensure your possessions are safe and secure, however we cannot guarantee that an unforeseen event or accident beyond our control will never occur. In some situations we may not be liable so for peace of mind and added cover please visit www.removalsinsurance.com.au or any insurance provider of your choice.

Moving

Moving a house's contents is hard work and can be exhausting, tiring and time consuming so leaving it to a professional removalist is a good idea. Removalists will do all the heavy lifting for you and you can even arrange for them to pack for you. Moving home can be one of life's most stressful events and moving day itself brings a host of worries so finding a removal company you can trust is vital. With packing your house up ready to move, dealing with real estates, solicitors and properties, redirecting your mail, services, changing address with banks and other agencies then doing a final clean of the house you're leaving. Why wouldn't you leave the hard work of the moving of your furniture and contents of your house and sheds to the professionals? Moving a house involves a lot of time, effort and organisation. We will endeavour to make your move as stress free as possible.

We are equipped with heavy duty felt padded blankets, cam buckle straps, heavy duty ties, upright trolleys, piano trolleys, other various lifting equipment, ramps and trucks.

Choosing a quality moving service may seem like a hard decision and expensive but the removal industry has some businesses that are cowboys.

They are cheap but can hit you with extra costs at the end like fuel costs, deciding they need an extra man on the day, they are slow and not efficient and if you're working with a small time frame a simultaneous settlement for example they may not be able to do the job in the allocated time. Also if something gets damaged like your TV or your fridge door gets a big scratch they are not going to want to be liable for it and that's if they show up with your goods at all once they drive off with all your belongings in the truck. The old saying is you get what you pay for. Pay peanuts, you get monkeys.

Even taking the cheap way and hiring a truck and doing it yourself can be expensive if you factor in hire cost of the truck, fuel cost, extra fees for cost per km's travelled, a case of beer and lunch for your mate who's helping and having to help them when they move. Lack of equipment, experience and know how, will probably result in you damaging your own furniture and house no matter how hard you try not to.
