

To whom it may concern,

It is with great pleasure that I recommend the services of Mr Sam Hoffmann, a carpenter and general builder, whom I recently engaged (along with other tradespersons) to build my new home in Mylor in the Adelaide hills.

My expectations for this project were exceptionally high and it is no exaggeration that this project succeeded to a level beyond those expectations because of Sam's involvement.

Sam is not only extraordinarily talented and knowledgeable in his trade, he is also a perfectionist and a hard worker who was always motivated, enthusiastic and professional in his approach.

Sam's communication style ensured I was respectfully informed and reassured during the build.

His expertise in general building has also been invaluable as he has resolved other issues created by lesser tradespersons involved on this project.

Sam would undoubtedly be a great asset to anyone seeking a first class building product.

I can be contacted on 0406 328 495 for further comment.
